WIRED KEYBOARD AND MOUSE KIT

TE-5019S

105 Spanish-layout keys with Copilot key + optical mouse · USB

COPILOT KEY ON THE KEYBOARD
Direct access to the Windows assistant

The complete workstation in a single purchase, with a Copilot key on the keyboard: direct access to the Windows assistant. A 105-key Spanish-layout keyboard and a four-button optical mouse with three levels up to 2000 DPI. Both connect over USB: plug them in and they work.

WHAT IT SOLVES

The complete workstation, with the key Windows has just introduced

Copilot key
Opens the Windows artificial intelligence assistant with a single press, without hunting for the icon.

105-key keyboard
Full Spanish layout with numeric keypad, for writing or entering data all day.

4-button mouse
Optical sensor with three sensitivity levels: 1000, 1600 and 2000 DPI depending on the task.

Both over USB
No batteries, no receiver and no pairing: plug them into the computer and they work from the first moment.

The Copilot key: a dedicated key that opens the Windows artificial intelligence assistant with one press. Microsoft added it to the standard PC keyboard layout in 2024: the first change to the layout since the Windows key appeared almost thirty years ago.

WHERE IT DELIVERS

Built for workstations that run Windows all day

OFFICES AND NEW WORKSTATIONS

Equipping in volume

When several desks need setting up at once, one code covers keyboard and mouse, with the same finish at every workstation.

- One code per workstation
- 105 Spanish-layout keys
- Direct USB connection

COMPUTERS WITH WINDOWS 11

The key at hand

At workstations where the Windows assistant is already used, the dedicated key saves the detour of the icon or the keyboard shortcut.

- Copilot key
- 1000 to 2000 DPI
- Optical mouse

CLASSROOMS AND SHARED DESKS

No batteries to replace

On computers used by many people, the cable stops the keyboard turning up with a flat battery or the USB receiver getting lost between shifts.

- USB connection
- 1.5 m cable on the mouse
- 12-month warranty
