WHAT IT SOLVES

What you need, with the least weight possible

430 grams
Under half a kilo empty: the weight on your shoulder is almost all laptop, not backpack.

Padded compartment
The main compartment is padded and takes a laptop of up to 15.6 inches.

Vertical front pocket
It opens top to bottom, so keys or the charger come out without rummaging through the main compartment.

Two side pockets
One on each side, the size of a bottle or a folding umbrella.

The 430 grams: the weight of the empty backpack adds to everything inside it. With a two-kilo laptop, a one-and-a-half-kilo backpack puts almost four kilos on your shoulder; this one weighs 430 grams, so what you carry is practically just the equipment.
